

the SUNDAY TIMES

EMPLOYMENT TIMES

MAKING OPPORTUNITIES KNOCK ON YOUR DOOR

Motivation and solving office conflicts

THE CONSCIENTIOUS and well-meaning owner of a small business cannot seem to get his work force motivated, despite a good benefits package and pleasant working environment. "I am coming to the conclusion that it doesn't pay to be nice to people," he says. "Maybe if I fired a few of them I'd get better results."

The supervisor of a 100-employee division of a large company says his employees are demoralized; he wants to know ways to increase their motivation.

An office manager is stunned to find out that two of her best employees told another supervisor she did not like them. "They are both top performers, and I can never remember being dissatisfied with them in any way," she says. "What's happening?"

These managers are discovering that managing means managing people. In the course of consulting and column writing I have found the two major problem areas for managers are how to motivate and how to reduce conflict.

Take the owner who is contemplating firing some of his employees. It is not that he is doing something wrong by giving them a handsome benefits package and good working conditions. He is just not doing enough. If you are in his situation you should ask yourself these questions: Do your employees participate in decision making? Do they have promotion opportunities? Do they think you have made promises you have not fulfilled? Do you reward them for initiative and superior performance?

People will work for money, but except in extreme circumstances, they resist working for money alone. They also want recognition, security and opportunity. There is, accordingly, a simple solution for the supervisor of those 100 demoralized employees: Tell them "thank you."

It is human nature to like praise and to be motivated to work for it. I often tell my clients, "Do you want to make $1,000 in five minutes? Go and give an employee a word of praise. His work rate will increase, his motivational level will rise, and he will pass along his good mood to others."

And you must be aware that all the good work and good feeling you build up can be destroyed in ways you little expect. Take the supervisor who was amazed to find out that her two best employees thought she disliked them.

It can happen like this: The manager is worried about a procurement problem. Frank, the employee, passes the manager in the corridor and greets her with a smile. The manager, engrossed in her problem, looks up briefly and mumbles a reply. Frank's mood drops. He wonders why she is angry with him, what he did, whether he is doing a good job.

The next day, the procurement problem takes a turn for the worse. Frank tries again. This time the manager does not even respond. Frank's worst fears are confirmed. And the manager does not even realize it.

Why does this happen? Employees are constantly gauging their job security and their employer's satisfaction with their performance by the expression they see on the manager's face.

OFFICE CONFLICT at its worst is caused by a deliberate troublemaker. Here is a typical case:

"I work with a manager who constantly criticizes me and the other managers. He likes to show my boss how knowledgeable he is and how he is the only guy who can 'get anything done around here.' The boss laps it up, and the two of them have lengthy conferences discussing all the employees. This guy is bent on climbing to the top over our bodies. What should we do?"

These professional conflict makers create morale problems, credibility problems and eventual productivity problems. They can be cunning and vicious, but they flourish only where the boss is a willing participant.

Professional conflict makers devote so much of their energies to criticizing others' performances that their own tasks are neglected. You can find subtle ways of pointing that out to their superiors.

Worth noting is that professional conflict makers rarely confine their volleys to employees. Their highly critical appraisals usually include disparaging remarks about the boss and his management style.

At the appropriate time, you might wish to share with your boss your concerns about the damage being done to the boss' own image in the eyes of the employees. By the way, bring along a witness or two. It will enhance your credibility. Keep your remarks dispassionate, and your boss will see the light.

A high level of employee motivation can make a company grow and flourish. Human conflict can reduce productivity and increase turnover. Business owners would be well advised to regularly monitor both. For a business they can spell life or death.

- findarticles.com

VACANCIES

Following vacancies exist in a leading Electronic manufacturing (Swiss) Company (BOI), Baseline Road, Daluwakotuwa, Kochchikade (Negombo).

- Management Trainee Production Planning
- Production Planner
- Junior NPI Engineer

For further details please refer the website : www.topjobs.lk

DINAPALA GROUP VACANCIES

WE ARE LOOKING FOR SALES STAFF WHO CAN COMMUNICATE IN ENGLISH, TAMIL TO BE WORKED IN OUR NEWLY OPENED

PHILIPS SHOWROOM AT BAMBALAPITIYA.
SCHOOL LEAVERS MAY ALSO APPLY.

COMPANY FRINGE BENEFITS ARE AVAILABLE TO THE RIGHT CANDIDATES. APPLY WITH COMPLETE BIO DATA, WITH 2 NAMES OF NON-RELATED REFEREES

TO, HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGER,
DINAPALA SUPER CENTER,
308, GALLE ROAD, COLOMBO 03.

dj PROMOTIONS

'Enhance the quality of life everywhere'
for your career, for people, for the world.'

Join Nestlé, and help change the world for the better; one spoonful, one sip, one bite, one drop, at a time.

Management Trainee - Nestlé Professional Marketing

Big ideas, creative intuition and a fierce determination to succeed. Think you got what it takes?

Our Nestlé Professional Business continues to build a strong team that works towards expanding our role in the out-of-home market by capitalising on all profitable and sustainable consumption opportunities.

As a management trainee with Nestlé Professional, you will hold a degree or an equivalent qualification from a recognized university. You will possess excellent communication and analytical skills and be fully geared to work on challenging projects right from the inception of your appointment.

You will be an exceptional and versatile individual, with a winning personality and just the right mix of skills. You will be passionate and energetic, and demonstrate a keen and aggressive commitment to achieving results. Exhibiting an optimistic approach, a desire for continuous learning and a proactive work style, you will possess the ability to take initiative and make decisions that ensure positive results for your team and Nestlé Lanka as a whole.

Electrical and Automation Engineer

Power Tools. How well can you manage both?

As electrical and automation engineer at our factory, you must be a meticulous and self-motivated personage with strong leadership and operational skills.

You will be savvy with food processing operations, hygienic engineering and manufacturing technology, and hold a degree in Engineering (preferably in Electrical or Electrical and Electronics Engineering), with 03-05 years' experience at a manufacturing facility in the field of electricity/automation.

You will lead and drive the E&A team to effectively manage equipment and the supply and distribution of electricity; ensuring they are safe, reliable, secure and sustainable at all times so that factory operations are well-supported and manufacturing performance is continuously improved. You will ensure and effectively communicate work place safety, health and environment to your team; and be committed to supporting our mission of empowering Nutrition, Health and Wellness within the scope of your job.

Project Engineer

Can you make the most of our assets to ensure that our Growth=Profitability at all times?

As project engineer at our factory, you must be proactive and on the ball, with a high level of strategic thinking ability and administrative skill.

You will hold a degree in Engineering or Technology, with 03-05 years of experience in a technical field at a food manufacturing or engineering company.

You will propose and implement work processes, procedures and technical resources for project management activities and for the smooth manufacture/distribution of quality products. You will apply new technologies and proven principles thorough design reviews and basic science to ensure effective utilization and management of all our assets; and be dedicated to quality and asset optimization.

If you'd like to be a part of a culture that is more than just food and drink and committed to creating better products so that people the world over can lead better lives, mail your CV with the job applied for indicated in the subject line or on the top left corner of the envelope, together with a recent photograph and the names of 2 non related referees within 7 working days to:

Vice President – Human Resources & Corporate Communications
Nestlé Lanka PLC, 440, T.B. Jayah Mawatha, Colombo 10
E-mail: nestle.careers@lk.nestle.com

GH Resources

Good Food. Good Life.

