Goals make you more challenging, and expand your growth and help to keep you focused

Always have some goals that are easy to reach. Simple goals and short-term goals will motivate you as you achieve them and keep you headed toward larger goals.

Make yourself stretch with long-term goals.

Long-term goals are usually two years or longer. These goals set the stage for your plan of success. They challenge you, expand your growth and help to keep you focused.

Share your goals with affirmations.

Speaking your goals out loud in the form of affirmations will not only help to feed your own sub-conscious mind, it will also allow others to support your efforts too. You are more likely to achieve your goals if your friends, business associates and family know about them. Only share your goals with people who encourage your growth and success and avoid negative forces.

It always amazes me how many goals I achieve by sharing them with others. My friends, family, business associates and even my audience attendees help me to stay on track and keep me moving toward my goals with continuous positive encouragement.

If you have a tendency to disappoint yourself before disappointing others, you may not feel comfortable goal? What will it do for you or how will it change your life?

Clarify the root of why you want to achieve your goals.

Is it to earn respect from others or to create a better lifestyle for your family? Will your goal have a profound impact on your life or others?

Don't let your ego get in the way of setting big goals.

Honest evaluation of why you want to achieve your goals will bring valuable insight and newly discovered personal development. The more you understand why you want something, the more motivated you will be to keep working at accomplishing your goals.

Don't give up.

You will get discouraged from time to time and may even start to doubt yourself. That is just human nature. You will also get busy, side-tracked, and may have a tendency to procrastinate. But don't stop! Keep moving toward your goals - one step at a time.

The reason many people do not set goals is the fear of failure. Yet the only true failure is to not attempt to try new things and to set new goals. If you don't try, you'll never reap the rewards. If you try and only partly succeed, you still are a success, and you will have achieved more than you've got right now.

Get to work on your goals for this year! Once you accomplish them you will discover more confidence and feel more empowered. That is your special gift to yourself. - sideroad.com sharing your goals. Yet, most people who don't share their goals often don't really believe that they can accomplish them. This negative self-doubt feeds your sub-conscious mind and begins to sabotage your results. To avoid this, move away from any negative self-talk and start sharing more often.

Prioritize, yet be flexible.

It is best to decide which goals are most important for you to achieve. Date your goals accordingly in the areas that will reap you the largest return on your investment of time and money. Ask yourself, is this task moving me toward my goals faster or holding me back from reaching my peak potential?

Be open and flexible to changes around you.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, you may need to adjust the due date of your goal or reevaluate and cancel it altogether. Often, the goals that receive the most attention are most likely the goals that will change frequently too.

Understand why you want to achieve your goal.

Why do you really want to achieve your long-term

There is no such thing as failure

There is no such thing as failure - only feedback - we can learn from our failures. Do not let apparent failures beat you up, learn from them. As humans, we tend to be harder on ourselves than others are. A small child learning to walk never fails to get up and try and try until success is achieved. It is the same in life; every failure is a step closer to success. Emotions are notoriously fickle: to let your emotions be your rule of success or failure is asking for trouble. Do not listen to your heart this is dangerous; you need to have advisors who are able to help direct you. No one succeeds alone always there is a strong team behind any success.

Your inner circle: Many successful men and women throughout history and up to the present day have a trusted an inner-circle of friends and advisors.

Choose this inner-circle with great care and wisdom.

Choice: It is all down to choice. That is your attitude toward failure and success. Many of those who succeed have a track record littered with what we would call failures. They chose to learn from these and move toward their goal. The last of the human freedoms is to choose your attitude in whatever circumstance you may find yourself.

Ensnare or pursue? The more you aim for something the more likely you are to miss it. Put quite simply success must happen. This is why the successful entrepreneur makes it look easy - they just let it happen. Do not care for success so much as following your principles, working toward the future and eventually success will be there with you - precisely because you forgot to aim for it.

Get rich quick schemes: is not a recipe for success. These schemes usually do not deliver what they promise; at best they are a lie. To get rich slowly is a much more stable road to tread.

Meaning in life is important. So how do we find meaning? See the article on "So how do we find meaning?"

A Prestigious University Career Position

OPEN TO CANDIDATES WITH OUTSTANDING LEADERSHIP
EXPERIENCE FROM THE PRIVATE SECTOR OR ACADEMIA

Vice Chancellor

The centre of Excellence for Value Addition

The Council of Uva Wellassa University of Sri Lanka (UWU) invites applications from suitably qualified academic and/or industry leaders with proven credentials for the position of Vice Chancellor for a three year term or until he/she completes his 65th year. The appointment will commence from 28 July 2011. The Vice Chancellor is the Chief Executive Officer, the Chairman of the Council and the Senate.

The Uva Wellassa University was established in Badulla on 6 June 2005 under the Universities Act No 16 of 1978 and the founder Vice Chancellor will complete his second term in office on 27 July 2011. The university was developed with a clear vision of being the centre of knowledge and expertise for value addition and now works towards a vision of being 'the centre of excellence for value addition to the national resources base by the year 2015'. Eleven 'market oriented' undergraduate programs are conducted on parallel themes of value addition and plans to expand the portfolio of programs on the same theme. The second batch is due to complete their studies in August 2011 and the passing out students are channeled into the job market with ease.

The University has chosen a strategy to produce well rounded graduates needed for national development with a strong image built on discipline, knowledge and skills. The mission is carried out through a strategy with the main focus on demand driven degree programs and research driven on a theme of value addition. The academic staff members function on Three Pillars of service. These three pillars of service are 'teaching and mentoring' students, 'research on value addition' and 'social responsibility'.

Its academic resources are shared among all degree programs wherever necessary and not silo based as in the traditional system. All degree programs are based as interdisciplinary programs. It has carried out activities to fulfill its social responsibility towards the community in Uva Wellassa in a significant manner. Each lecturer is striving to carry out research linked to major scientific goals aiming value addition. The academic processes of UWU are course driven where a multi disciplinary course committee is headed by a course director in each program.

These committees are accountable for keeping the courses aligned with the vision and market oriented. The course directors also ensure employability of graduates.

The administrative processes are operations driven aiming results while adhering to statutory requirements under the Universities Act. All employees are trained to be totally aligned to the Vision and integrated with the Strategy.

The progress of construction has been exceptional and now UWU has 13 new buildings with over 310,000 sq ft built area. Yet this is only 40% of the master plan completed. The thrust towards excellence as the leading centre of value addition requires the remaining infrastructure development be carried out diligently while developing human capital to match the strategic goals. There are other issues such as the completion of land acquisitions and timely procurement of assets for the expanding university.

The UWU is an entrepreneurial university. Its primary role is to produce employable graduates through demand driven courses fitting into the theme of value addition. The undergraduates go through essential skills development and acquiring broad general knowledge to meet the challenges of employment in a globalised market. The undergraduates are mentored and guided into careers contributing to economic development and particularly target the engine of growth for employment. These graduates distinctly become entrepreneurial by the time they pass out. However this University expects the Vice Chancellor to be accountable for the employability of the graduate.

Independent committees for head hunting and applications review have been appointed to assist the Council to recommend the ideal candidate to become the next Vice Chancellor. We encourage applicants with qualities of leadership and proven experience not only in academic matters but also in strategic organization development to send in applications. We also encourage the private sector leaders to apply stating their credentials of achievements and qualifications.

The QA Institutional Review conducted in January 2011 by six Eminent Senior Professors states

"The unanimous decision of the review team is that during the past five years, the rate of development of the UWU is nothing short of a miracle, mainly due to efficient management and administration" adding that "Review process has shown that the judgment of 'CONFIDENCE' can be given to Uva Wellassa University when the procedures that are in place to safeguard standards and maintain quality are considered"

The Vice Chancellor will be provided with the followings:

1. Excellent residential facility.
2. Vehicle with driver and fuel.
3. Domestic help for maintenance etc.
4. Entertainment allowance.
5. Highest academic salary.

The applicants are required to submit before the closing date of applications the following:

1. A complete CV giving the qualifications and experience.
2. A copy of birth certificate.
3. A statement of about 1000 words giving how you wish to take forward the University on its already chosen strategic path.
4. A letter of consent if the person is being nominated
5. A letter from the employer stating that you could get released in the event of being selected.

The process of selection will shortlist candidates and invite each individual candidate to an interview where he would make a presentation to the review committee. The final appointment is made by His Excellency the President.

The application should reach the undersigned by 08 April 2011.

Acting Registrar & Secretary to the Council
